

From the Pastor

The fifth Beatitude reads, “Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy.” (Matthew 5:7).

Being merciful is an important quality of God’s character and nature. Therefore, it is a quality that we must learn to show ourselves.

It would help for us to know what is meant by the words merciful and mercy. Why? Because the dictionary definition of mercy is not what is meant by the Greek words translated as “merciful” and “mercy” in this verse.

The dictionary definition of mercy is “a refraining from harming or punishing offenders, enemies, persons in one’s power, etc.; kindness in excess of what may be expected or demanded by fairness; forbearance and compassion.” (Webster’s New World Dictionary)

The Bible does use mercy this way when God refrained from punishing Israel and Judah for their sins immediately. He showed great forbearance and mercy by not immediately punishing them for their idolatry—worshipping false gods instead of Him the true God. God is very merciful for He is hopeful in the possibility that His people may turn or return to Him. We see this in the words of the prophet Joel in Joel 2:12-13, “‘Now, therefore,’ says the Lord, ‘Turn to Me with all your heart, with fasting, with weeping and with mourning.’ So rend your heart, and not your garments; return to the Lord your God, for He is gracious and merciful, slow to anger, and of great kindness; and he relents from doing harm.”

However, this aspect of God’s mercy does not last forever. God withheld His punishment of Israel and Judah; giving them room to repent which they never did. Therefore, Jeremiah wrote during the time that the House of Judah was being taken captive by the king of Babylon in Jeremiah 15:6, “‘You have forsaken Me,’ says the Lord, ‘You have gone backward. Therefore I will stretch out My hand against you and destroy you; I am weary of relenting!’”

However, in Matthew 5:7 “merciful” and “mercy” have a different meaning. “Merciful” is from the Greek word “eleemon.” It is an adjective and is only used once in the New Testament—here in this verse. Danker’s Lexicon defines “eleemon” as “pertains to being concerned about people in their need, merciful, sympathetic, compassionate.”

The other Greek word is a verb (“eleeo”) and is translated “shall obtain mercy.” Danker’s defines this word as “to be greatly concerned about someone in need, have compassion/mercy/pity.”

We see that the merciful are those who are truly concerned about the needs of others. The merciful are not consumed or motivated solely by self-concern. The merciful are those who understand and live by the Second Great Commandment “You shall love your neighbor as yourself.” Or, as Paul wrote in Philippians 2: 4, “Let each of you look out not only for his own interests, but also for the interests of others.”

God is love. Being merciful means showing love as God does.
